Start Your Engines! SpaceFinder Alberta is Online

On behalf of Calgary Arts Development, thank you again for participating in SpaceFinder Alberta.

We want to take this opportunity to share ways that your organization can help promote the use of this online tool to direct more people to your listings on SpaceFinder Alberta.

On June 10, 2016 we began promoting SpaceFinder Alberta to the community and driving users to your venue listings. This is still a soft launch phase and we will continue to work towards a fuller, more robust site. The full launch will take place during Alberta Culture Days at the end of September.

We've included a toolkit below to help you promote your listing on SpaceFinder Alberta during the summer to people who are seeking space.

Warm regards,

Joni Carroll & Kari Watson

Promoting SpaceFinder Alberta to Your Community

SpaceFinder Canada Brand Guidelines

In collaboration with Fractured Atlas, SpaceFinder is one of the many tools and resources that ArtsBuild Ontario (ABO) has brought to the arts and culture sector in Canada. SpaceFinder is unique in that ABO has partnered with regional organizations to bring the free resource to new communities where it is needed, including Alberta.

A helpful metaphor for the relationship might be one of a franchise, in which the parent brand is placed into different marketing contexts based on region. As a regional partner, Calgary Arts Development is expected to be insightful and creative with the context, stories and messages we craft.
